

MANY AMATEURS IN AND AROUND NEW YORK TAKING PHOTOS.

The EVENING WORLD will pay $2 each for all amateur photographs it accepts and prints. A full description, giving names, locations, &c., should accompany each. Only sharply defined and strongly printed photographs can be used. The subjects should be interesting, novel and newsworthy. No prints will be returned. All that are accepted and printed will be paid for. Address "Amateur Photograph Editor, Evening World, P. O. box 2,354, New York City."

LONG BRANCH'S LARGEST FAMILY.

(Photographed by Charles L. Williams, No. 143 New Ocean avenue, Long Branch, N. J.) This group consists of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Williams, of Long Branch, and their eleven children. It is the largest family in the place.

A SINGER IN A HIGH SEA.

(Photographed by Charles L. Williams, No. 143 New Ocean avenue, Long Branch, N. J.) The fat man is William Pruette, baritone of the Castle Square Opera Company. This is the sort of fun he had in the surf at Cape May last summer.

CONDUCTORS AFTER PRIZES.

Fat and Thin Ones Entering in Evening World Contest.

Interest in the Evening World's great "Fat Conductor" Contest is steadily increasing. Entries are coming in by every mail, and many conductors have called in person to be weighed in the presence of the "Fat Conductor" Editor. All conductors within a radius of twenty-five miles of the City Hall are eligible. The Evening World makes but one stipulation. Each contestant must be weighed in the presence of two reliable witnesses and the accuracy of the scales attested. All entries should be addressed to the "Fat Conductor," Editor, P. O. box 2,354, New York City. The Evening World offers three cash prizes in gold. The first prize is $25, to be awarded to the fattest conductor within the above-named district; a prize of $15 to the next fattest conductor; and a prize of $10 to the thinnest conductor.

O'Neill Still Leads.
Coming to the narrow aisles in vogue on the street-cars conductors are not permitted by the restricted space to increase in weight to any extraordinary extent. As a result none are very hopeful of exceeding the record for weight made by John O'Neill, of the Van Trump street line, who won the Evening World's prize of $25 in gold for the fattest conductor. But when it comes to producing large weights they declare they will walk away with the prize money and establish a record for light men that will make the motorman envious to the superlative degree.
Frank H. Connelly, a conductor in Port Richmond, S. I., having run No. 88, has entered for the prize and hopes to take the money. His entry was followed by that of John Segor, of the Midland Electric Railroad, of Staten Island, who filed his official weight. Segor's witnesses are Henry Bruns and Paul Shawotte.
Starter James McPard, stationed at the Eighty-sixth street station of the Madison avenue division, is enthusiastic over the chances of Conductors Robinson, of the Eighty-sixth street cross-town line; Conductor Marks, of the Fourth avenue line, having run No. 728, and Conductor John Evans, of the same division, having run No. 86.
Starter McPard declares that their division in Edward J. Delinger, won second money in the Evening World's famous "Fat Motorman" Contest, and he is confident that the strikers they already have in and will file that they should do much better in this contest.

After Two at Least.
"We may not win all the prizes," said Starter McPard to a reporter for the Evening World this morning, "but the Madison avenue conductors will do all they can to land the three prizes at least. So look out for us."
Contestants are informed that they are permitted to have a second weighing in case they discover that their physical condition has greatly changed from the time of the filing of the first entry. Most of the men, however, prefer to hold back and not file the official statement of their weight and enter in the competition. They have in many cases, nevertheless, sent in their pictures and letters showing the great interest they take in this contest. These pictures will be printed in the order they are received as soon as convenient.
Many entries are coming in from neighboring towns showing the great interest in this "Fat Conductor" Contest is not localized, and that the concern in the latest competition of The Evening World is popular and widespread.

"SHAKE-DOWN" DELIA IN ACTION

Pedestrians Stood On Their Heads and Robbed.

Just back from the Philippines, Charles Smith, of Brooklyn, strolled to see the sights at the junction of Doyers street and Chatham Square. Smith thought the group which he tarried to watch was composed of acrobats practicing for the country-circus season. In all of his travels Smith had never seen anything like it.
The leader was a woman. Before Smith fully realized the situation he was standing on his head. The men of the gang held his legs while the woman shook the pennies out of his pocket. When he was righted Smith started to run, but before he went far he was hit in several spots.
After a short run he concluded he would like to see more of the fun and returned. From a safe distance he saw the game was still on.
Another man who strolled as Smith had done was picked up and reversed. One of the crowd yelled, "All right, Delia; shake 'em down." Thereupon Delia shook out a gold watch from the man's pocket. The watch was thrown to one of the gang, who escaped. Smith's curiosity was satisfied. He found a policeman and told him. The policeman made a run to the corner and arrested the woman, the other members of the gang escaping.
Magistrate Pool today learned that the woman is known as "Shake-Em-Down" Delia Lynberg, twenty-nine years old, of a Hague street. The man who lost his watch was not present, but Magistrate Pool held "Shake-Em-Down Delia" in $1,000 bail and said if anybody else had been stood on his head in the vicinity mentioned he would like the said person or persons to appear and relate their experiences.

The Wanamaker Store 50,000 Yards of WOOL CHALLIS

At Twenty-eight Cents a Yard!

WORTH 50c?—yes; and no.

They're new this season. Hundreds of thousands of yards that you'll think identical will be sold in the next two or three months at fifty cents a yard. The cloth is exactly the same, and it is perfect. The printing is from the same blocks, with the same dyes; same designs, same color combinations. "Then why not the same?"—you will ask; and you'll still ask it when you see the goods, for you'll find no fault with them. But experts know they are not just like the perfect pieces, and the manufacturer could not mix them with his perfect goods. Neither do we want you to buy them without knowing just what they are, so you can judge them for yourself. Here is the reason for the price: Some of the printings are not exact; some pieces did not take as much of the dye as the model, and came out a less dense shade. If any have worse defects, we have not seen them. But here's the warning; and there is no defect that your own eyes cannot detect. There is no danger of defective cloth at all. They are soft, dainty and beautiful as wool challis are famed to be; and we know you will say we have no real right to call them imperfect.

It just makes a difference of 2c a yard in your favor. Thrifty and tasteful women will take the best part of them in three days, or probably two. We expect to be able to fill all mail orders that are sent to-day. Plenty of polka-dots and the new rings that will be so popular this season, as well as stripes and figures in white and colors on grounds of navy, light and cadet blues, gray, pink, heliotrope and white. Splendid variety—bright and new—a remarkable offering at 28c a yard.

Ample selling space on Main aisle counters and in the Rotunda to display the patterns fully, and make the buying comfortable even with the rapid selling of which they are certain.

MISS ASTOR MAY WED DUKE OF ROXBURGHE.

Much Talk of the Romance in London, and Match Pleases Father.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—There is much talk here now of the marriage of the Duke of Roxburghe and Miss Pauline Astor, daughter of William Waldorf Astor.

The Duke is twenty-five and is a suitable match in every way. It is understood that his suit is favored by Mr. Astor.

The Duke has just returned from South Africa, where he saw service as a lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards.

The young Duke of Roxburghe is the seventh to bear that title. His father died in 1892, and he then succeeded to the dukedom as well as to the other titles of Marquis of Westminster and Countess of Roxburghe, Earl of Kelso, Viscount Broxmouth and Baron Ker.

His mother, with her family of two younger sons and three unmarried daughters, the eldest married daughter being Lady Margaret Orr-Ewing, still resides with the Duke at Floors Castle, Kelso, in Roxburghshire, on the Scottish border, where the Kers have long been a power.

Both the present Duchess of Roxburghe and the Duke's grandmother were intimately associated with the court in personal attendance upon the late Queen Victoria as ladies of the bedchamber, while the Duke's mother was, in addition, Mistress of the Robes from 1880 to 1893 and was an especial friend of the Queen.

Through his mother, Lady Anne Spencer-Churchill, who was the fourth daughter of the seventh Duke of Marlborough, the Duke of Roxburghe is a first cousin of the present Duke of Marlborough, and in this way has a close connection with American families.

DANCED BEFORE WALES; FINED $2
Drink and a Dog License Brought Kitty O'Neill to Court.

If Kitty O'Neill, formerly with Tony Pastor and later with Harrigan and Hart, kept a diary it would contain among other entries the following, provided Kittle always wrote the truth:

"Danced the straight jig for the Royal Irish-Princess, the Duke of Wales, 1877."
March 9, 1900, got two days from a Brooklyn magistrate; charge, intoxication. The deal?

Aug. 10, 1900, fined $2 by same magistrate on same charge. Paid it. Preparatory!

Jan. 27, 1901, danced the same jig which I pulled off for H. H. H. in London on the Brooklyn end of the Bridge. Arrested.

Same day, before the jig, dog license came due. My husband gave me $2 to renew the same. I remarked at the same time that the dog would probably not get his run-about tag, and that I would get drunk on the advance for the renewal. The inference drew me to drink. It was too bad to sleepless him, so the dog license is renewed.

Ha! What would King Edward VII. former Prince of Wales, say now?

The foregoing are facts in the life of Kitty O'Neill, whether star or not, and are not at one time she was a music hall singer and dancer in the old Olympic Theatre, Brooklyn. That was thirty years ago. She had some success and it took her to London, where she failed. While there she came to have danced the straight jig for the Prince of Wales. She returned to this country, she quit the stage a long time ago and has been living with her third husband, A. D. Connelly, in Perry street, Brooklyn.

FOUND WITH SKULL CRUSHED
William McMillan, a machinist, of 390 Bowery, was found to-day by Policemen Crowley and Cavanaugh, of the Mulberry street station, in the doorway of 232 Bowery, with his skull fractured. He was sent to Bellevue Hospital.

Frank Schirmer, proprietor of 232 Bowery, a lodging-house, and Tony Ginillo, boothblack, were arrested on suspicion, and held by Magistrate Pool pending an investigation.

HARD LINES
To Make a Man Too the Mark.

To take both tobacco and coffee away from a man seems pretty tough, but the doctor ordered me to quit both, as my health was very poor, and I had got where I could do but little work.

About a month after quitting I commenced on tobacco again because I could hardly stand it. I got along without the coffee for the rest of the month, and in this way I found the coffee, which I found very relishing to the appetite and wonderfully beneficial.

I have gained twenty-five pounds by 28c use, and to-day I am a well man. I discovered in this way that it was the old-fashioned coffee that I did not like. When I tried Postum I did not relish it, but I found that it was not made right, that is, they did not boil it long enough. Next time it came on the table it was fine and I have been using it ever since.

Mr. Fletcher, an old soldier of this place, was troubled with dyspepsia. I told him of my experience and my cure, and told him to quit coffee and use Postum Food Coffee. This was in twenty years, and nothing would induce him to go back from Postum to the use of common coffee. He had the same trouble in getting it made right to start with.

John Ashford, of Dillon, was also troubled with dyspepsia. I told him of my cure by the use of Postum Food Coffee, and warned him to be careful in having the Postum cooked long enough when he did try it. To-day he is perfectly well and his appetite never better.

I could give you on the names of a number of others who have been benefited by using Postum Food Coffee. I believe you are a true friend of suffering humanity. — Thomas Spring, Deavertown, Ohio.
